

DOUGIES SEPTIC SERVICE

Septi Kleen

Harnessing Nature's Recycling:

In the natural environment, both bacteria and enzymes produce the primary role in the biodegradation process. It is both safe and environmentally beneficial. Only highly researched, developed and balanced cultures can do this.

Bacteria produces enzymes essential for metabolizing their food source (organic waste) into energy necessary for growth of the living organism.

The ancient Romans harnessed natural biological recycling for their successful waste systems. Some are still in use after thousands of years, however, the Romans did not predict that we would have evolved so rapidly.

Today, we use soaps, cleaners, chemicals and different disinfectants that harm the bacterial growth within our plumbing.

Bacteria will perform the breakdown of these waste materials that are deposited daily into your homes, businesses and institutions.

Call Us Today!

785-543-4356

www.dougiesseptic.com

Why Us?

Dougies Septi Kleen® is the most advanced product of its time. Our product is packed with Nutrient Catalyst, Synergized Bacterial Blend, Nutrient System, Macro-Nutrients, Micro-Nutrients, a Pro-Biotic System and more.

Being experts in the industry, we have learned what works and what does not work. We discovered that by incorporating natural elements into our products and services, we are able to keep septic tanks, leach fields, and lagoons clean and healthy along with regular pumping and cleaning. Dougies Septi Kleen® is ideal for use in any residential home or facility. Our product will help keep your toilets flowing easily. Your septic tank will also be getting the food it needs to consume organic wastes, and paper. We aren't done; in addition to all of this, Dougies Septi Kleen® will also help eliminate odors associated with waste product.

Why us? Its simple. We care about the health and wealth of our customers and their homes.